The Department of Spanish and Portuguese in cooperation with the Colorado Translators Association is delighted to present

Corinne McKay

President of the American Translators Association (ATA) 2017-2019
ATA Certified French-English Translator
Author of How to Succeed as a Freelance Translator

The Path to Success as a Freelance Translator:
American Translators Association and planning your professional future

With an introduction by Norberto Cardenales (MA, Spanish Linguistics, 2018)
Board Member of Colorado Translators Association

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 2019
1:00-1:50 pm
McKenna 103

For All University of Colorado Language, Literature, Culture and Professions Undergraduate Majors and Graduate Students and members of the public

Corinne McKay is currently the President of the American Translators Association (2017-2019). During her 15+ years as an ATA Certified French to English translator, Corinne has established a reputation as a trusted partner for individuals, corporations, NGOs, and charitable foundations. She also translates books and her translation of Erhard Loretan and Jean Ammann’s Night Naked: A Climber’s Autobiography was short-listed for the 2017 Boardman Tasker Prize for Mountain Literature. About her role with ATA, she states:

“Ongoing professional development and professional service are very important to me, and I am honored to be serving as the President of the American Translators Association from 2017-2019.” http://translatewrite.com/